Duane Eubanks is back as a bandleader after a long hiatus. He left listeners desiring the warmth of his sound and the depth of his compositions. Duane returns with a solid, tight knit group of musicians on his newly released album, Things of that Particular Nature. His top notch quintet features Abraham Burton on tenor saxophone, Marc Cary on piano/fender rhodes, Dezron Douglas on bass, Eric McPherson on drums, and special guest, Steve Nelson on vibraphones. Duane's well received output features each member of his quintet and showcases their respect for each other and the art form.
